Reminder: NYT reported last month that Bannon was concerned about Kushner's contact with Russians, and his expected testimony before Congress on the subject, will become a major distraction for the White House.

Mr. Kushner, 36, a government neophyte who has taken on a much larger portfolio as a top West Wing aide and foreign envoy, was said to be displeased after hearing that Mr. Bannon made critical remarks about him to other aides and Trump associates while he was in Iraq recently. Mr. Bannon has told confidants that he believes Mr. Kushner's contact with Russians, and his expected testimony before Congress on the subject, will become a major distraction for the White House.

Kushner allies have also raised the issue with the president of the increasingly unflattering coverage that Mr. Kushner is receiving from Breitbart News, the right wing website that Mr. Bannon used to run.

But Mr. Bannon has his own core of supporters outside the White House. And he has argued that Mr. Kushner's efforts to pull his father-in-law more to the center on issues like immigration would poison him with the conservative base—a hopeless position to be in because Mr. Bannon believes so few Democrats would ever consider supporting Mr. Trump.

Stupid: right-wingers speaking at universities
Smart: right-wingers burning universities to the ground & killing the professors and students

Le Pen's ambush of Macron at the Whirlpool factory is pure fucking comedy gold. She's going to lose badly, but what a reel hueman bear.

Someone, please kill Francis before I do. twitter.com/DRUDGE_REPORT/...
